

Icahn
School of Medicine at Mount
Sinai

Medical Student Research Office

National Fellowship Programs

National fellowship programs that support a scholarly year for medical students include:

1. Medical Research Scholars Program - Application Deadline: 1/15/16

The Medical Research Scholars Program, located on the NIH campus, supports basic, clinical, and translational research. Eligible students are those who have completed their clinical year.

Application and further information are available here

2. The Howard Hughes Medical Institute's Medical Research Fellows Program - Application Deadline: 1/11/16

The program enables medical and dental students from U.S. schools to spend a year conducting basic, translational, or applied biomedical research at any school or nonprofit research institution in the United States, except at the NIH in Bethesda, Maryland. A completed research proposal is part of the application.

Application and further information are available here

3. Howard Hughes Medical Institute's Medical Research Fellows Program at Janelia Farm - Application Deadline: 11/2/15

The Howard Hughes Medical Institute's Medical Research Fellows Program at Janelia Farm offers students with an interest in neuronal networking and/or imaging an intense year-long research training experience, living and working at the HHMI Janelia Farm Research Campus in Ashburn, Virginia in the Washington, D.C., area. Students must comply with specific eligibility and application requirements.

Application and further information are available here

4. **Sarnoff Medical Student Research Fellowship Program** - Application Deadline: 1/6/16

The program is designed to give medical students the opportunity to spend a year conducting intensive work in a biomedical research laboratory located in the United States. Applications are encouraged from students interested in cellular physiology and molecular biology, as well as in clinical and experimental cardiovascular biology.

For further information, call 703-759-7600 or email: Dana Boyd at dboyd@SarnoffFoundation.org.

5. **Doris Duke International Clinical Research Fellowship \(ICRF\)** - <http://tinyurl.com/n9cxhby> - Application Deadline: TBA

This program is open to medical students in good standing at any U.S.-based medical school. Accepted students spend a year out from medical school conducting mentored clinical research in developing countries. This is coordinated through one of six hosting schools.

6. **Doris Duke Charitable Foundation Clinical Research Mentorship** - <http://tinyurl.com/pf3ts5x> - Application Deadline: TBA

The Clinical Research Mentorship (CRM) program encourages medical students to become physician scientists by partnering them with investigators supported through Doris Duke Medical Research Program grants.

Past and present Doris Duke-funded researchers are invited to identify a medical student to mentor for one year and to then apply for this grant as a team. Alternatively, medical students may identify a qualifying Doris Duke researcher and apply together. In either case, the Doris Duke researcher must be the applicant.

7. **Fulbright-Fogarty Fellowships in Public Health \(click cancel when prompted for a username and password\)** - Application Deadline: 10/13/15

The NIH offers a one-year clinical research training experience for graduate-level U.S. students in the health professions. This is an opportunity for highly motivated individuals to experience mentored research training at top-ranked NIH-funded research centers in developing countries. Africa, Asia, and the Americas are regions of the world that, if accepted, students may find themselves experiencing.

8. **American Heart Association Founders Affiliate - Medical Student Research Program** - Application Deadline: 12/1/15, 5 pm EST

The purpose of the grant is to encourage medical students to consider a career in cardiovascular research. The program is designed to provide students with an opportunity to conduct research with an established investigator.

Awards for student stipends are made for 12 months for $22,000 per year which includes 10 percent indirect costs.

9. The Zuckerman Fellowship - Application Deadline: 1/4/16

Candidates for the Zuckerman Fellows Program are individuals who have, or are pursuing, an MBA, JD, MD, or DMD/DDS degree from an accredited U.S. institution and are seeking an additional degree from the Harvard Graduate School of Education, Harvard School of Public Health, or Harvard Kennedy School. Candidates must be citizens of the United States.

The Zuckerman Fellowship provides one year of tuition and health insurance fees, plus a living stipend of $15,500.

Application and further information are available here.

Questions about eligibility, timing of applications, application guidelines, or the application forms should be directed to Rebecca Lock from the Committee on General Scholarships at 617-496-5042 or zuckermanfellows@harvard.edu.

10. Dubin Fellows Program for Emerging Leaders –Application Deadline: 2/25/16

Dubin Fellows are awarded a scholarship up to full tuition and health fees for up to two years, depending on the length of their graduate degree program. Fellows are also eligible for a stipend of up to $5,000 to support unpaid summer internships or professional development. Successful applicants will demonstrate their potential as emerging leaders by evidencing strong character, excellent academic credentials, a commitment to pursue a career with transformative impact on society, and the ability to thrive and lead in the face of adversity. Dubin Fellows participate in a rich co-curricular program offered by the Center for Public Leadership. This fellowship is open to students entering their first year of study in any of Harvard Kennedy School's master's degree programs. Both domestic and international students are eligible to apply.

Additional information about the fellowship, the application procedures, as well as bios of current fellows and alumni, can be found here under the Fellowships tab.

11. Gleitsman Leadership Fellowship – Application Deadline: 2/25/16

Gleitsman Fellows are awarded a scholarship up to full tuition and health fees for one year. Successful applicants will be considered based on their demonstrated potential as emerging social activists and innovators and interest in pursuing a career with transformative impact on society, as well as demonstrating strong character and excellent academic credentials. Fellows are also eligible for a stipend up to $1,500 to support unpaid summer internships or professional development. Gleitsman Fellows will participate in a rich co-curricular program offered by the Center for Public Leadership. This fellowship is open to students entering their first year of study in any of the Harvard Kennedy School's master's degree programs. Both domestic and international students are eligible to apply.

Additional information about the fellowship, application procedures, as well as bios of current fellows and alumni, can be found at here under the Fellowships tab.