

Emily Anderson, MD

Medical School: University of Minnesota Medical School

Email: emily.anderson@mountsinai.org

Profile: Emily is an AP/CP resident with an interest in dermatopathology and general surgical pathology. She chose Mount Sinai because it is a leader in digital pathology and has incredible cultural diversity among its residents and faculty, which is something she felt was lacking in the Midwest. Born and raised in Minnesota, Emily's adventurous spirit has been thriving in New York City. She loves exploring the city and the food it has to offer in her free time. She additionally likes taking her dog for long walks in central park, watching scary movies, and playing board games with friends.

Zachary Belden, MD

Medical School: Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine

Email: zachary.belden@mountsinai.org

Profile: Zach is an AP/CP resident from Maine with a passion for understanding the mechanisms of disease in order to advance life on Earth. He loves the basic sciences, philosophy, tinkering, experimental cooking, modern art, sports and exploring New York.

Faruk Erdem Kombak, MD

Medical School: Istanbul University School of Medicine, Turkey

Email: farukerdem.kombak@mountsinai.org

Profile: Erdem is an AP/CP resident, with special interest on breast and gynecological pathology. He describes pathology as "Being in the center of medical decision making" and enjoys his profession. He likes to take walks with his dog in world-famous NYC parks and explore new cuisines. He is very good at karaoke.

Nicholas Scibetta, DO

Medical School: Rowan University School of Osteopathic Medicine

Email: nicholas.scibetta@mountsinai.org

Profile: Nicholas is an AP-only resident. He holds a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and is pursuing a career in forensic pathology. He chose ISMMS Mount Sinai Hospital for its camaraderie, contemporary leadership, personalized training, variety of patient populations, and for the tremendous opportunities it offers. Nicholas was born and raised in northeastern New Jersey where he currently resides. He loves animals (including his turtle) and learning new languages of which he is proficient in several.

Yamato Suemitsu, MD

Medical School: Kyoto University

Email: yamato.suemitsu@mountsinai.org

Profile: Yamato is an AP/CP Resident originally from Japan; born in Osaka. His parents living in Kyoto. Yamato went through pathology training in Tokyo for a few years. He likes working out, driving, sauna and drinking. He came here attracted to diversity of NYC.

Tiffany Wang, MD

Medical School: University of Virginia School of Medicine

Email: tiffany.wang@mountsinai.org

Profile: Tiffany is an AP/CP resident with an interest in forensics (but who is keeping her options open!) She loves video games, horror, crafts of all types, travel, and trying different foods around the city.

Yasmin Ludianski, DDS

Medical School: NYU College of Dentistry

Email: yasmin.ludianski@mountsinai.org

Profile: Yasmin is an Oral and Maxillofacial Pathology chief resident with an interest in pediatric oral pathology. She was born in Israel and immigrated to the US at 4 years old with dreams of becoming a doctor. Her passion for both medicine and dentistry led her to Oral Pathology after graduating from the NYU College of Dentistry. After her graduation from the Oral and Maxillofacial Pathology residency program in June 2025, she will be continuing her training at Northwell – Staten Island University Hospital Pediatric Dentistry to become the 5th dual-trained Oral and Maxillofacial Pathologist and Pediatric Dentist.