Working Papers In Ethics and Moral Psychology

UPCOMING EVENTS:
12/13/2018: Michael Brownstein
/John Jay College
3/14/2019: Kyle Ferguson
/CUNY Graduate Center
4/18/2019: Jeff Sebo
/NYU
5/23/2019: Johann Frick
/Princeton University

PAST EVENTS:
10/11/2018: Jordan Mackenzie
/NYU
11/8/2018: Susana Nuccetelli
/St. Cloud State University

Working Papers in Ethics and Moral Psychology is a speaker series conducted under the auspices of the Icahn School of Medicine Bioethics Program. It is conceived as a working group where speakers are invited to present well-developed, as yet unpublished work. The focus of the group will be interdisciplinary, with a primary focus on topics in ethics, bioethics, neuroethics, and moral psychology.

JOIN THE WORKING PAPERS MAILING LIST AND RSVP TO: nada.gligorov@mssm.edu

NEXT EVENT:
THURSDAY DECEMBER 13TH 2018, 5:30-7:00PM
ANNENBERG 12-12

Michael Brownstein (John Jay College)
“Skepticism about Bias: Social Structures, Biased Minds, and Discrimination”

Prof. Brownstein’s research focuses on feelings, thoughts, and actions that are hard to explain in terms of intentions, deliberations, and one’s conscious sense of self. He has worked on questions having to do with identity and responsibility for unintended actions. He is author of a monograph, The Implicit Mind: Cognitive Architecture, the Self, and Ethics.