

Working Papers In Ethics and Moral Psychology

UPCOMING EVENTS:

10/11/2018: Jordan Mackenzie
/NYU

11/8/2018: Susana Nuccetelli
/St. Cloud State University

12/13/2018: Michael Brownstein
/John Jay College

3/14/2019: Kyle Ferguson
/CUNY Graduate Center

4/18/2019: Jeff Sebo
/NYU

5/23/2019: Johann Frick
/Princeton University

Working Papers in Ethics and Moral Psychology is a speaker series conducted under the auspices of the Icahn School of Medicine Bioethics Program. It is conceived as a working group where speakers are invited to present well-developed, as yet unpublished work. The focus of the group will be interdisciplinary, with a primary focus on topics in ethics, bioethics, neuroethics, and moral psychology.

JOIN THE WORKING PAPERS MAILING LIST AND RSVP TO:
nada.gligorov@mssm.edu

NEXT EVENT:

THURSDAY OCTOBER 11TH 2018, 5:30-7:00PM
ANNENBERG 13-44

Jordan Mackenzie
“Self-Deception as a Valuing Failure”
NYU Center for Bioethics

Prof. Mackenzie is an Assistant Professor at the NYU Center for Bioethics. She works primarily in normative ethics, bioethics, and moral psychology, and is interested in questions relating to the moral value of self-knowledge, the harms caused by self-deception, and the moral dilemmas that often confront family caregivers in medical settings.

SERIES ORGANIZER NADA GLIGOROV, PHD

MOUNT SINAI BIOETHICS PROGRAM, 1468 MADISON AVENUE AT 100TH ST
ANNENBERG BUILDING 12TH FLOOR, ROOM 12-42
NEW YORK, NY 10029 | p: 212-241-6602

