

Medical Students as Research Participants

All investigators wishing to include Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai students as potential research subjects must provide the Associate Deans for Curricular and Student Affairs their IRB approval letter no less than 1 month in advance of the study. Following review, discussion and approval by the Associate Deans, the President of Student Council will be notified and he/she will share the proposal with Student Council for approval. If approved by the Student Council, the request for participation will be sent to students by Student Council. In order to protect medical students and their privacy, individual student names and contact information will not be provided to investigators. No more than two reminders will be sent to students.
