GRADUATE MEDICAL EDUCATION
Resident and Fellow of the Month: February 2021

Dania Goodin, MD
Resident (PGY3), Emergency Medicine
Mount Sinai Hospital

Service to Peers/Patients: “Dr. Goodin never ceases to amaze me with her intelligence, compassion, and dedication to her work. Even in her most clinically challenging cases she takes time to explain to the patient and healthcare team exactly what’s going on every step of the way. She’s stayed late after shift countless times to close the loop with patient’s families and loved ones as well as assist her co-residents when we get the common shift-change code or trauma. When we worked in the covid ICU, I looked to her for her guidance and support through our toughest days. She displays a resilience and grace that is unparalleled in our residency. She is a mentor and teacher to residents, medical students, and even high school students in her time off. Dr. Goodin is frustratingly humble and will go out of her way to support and give credit to those around her. Everyone in our program will agree that she is incredibly funny and great to work alongside. Personally, I look forward to every shift I have with her.”

Pouya Mohajer, MD
Fellow (PGY6), Cardiovascular Disease
Mount Sinai Beth Israel

Service to Peers: “As a senior he always stays back late to help out with the workload, while sending the first years who were post-call home so they could rest. It is rare to meet someone this humble, friendly and helpful who at the same time is so well accomplished in his field (he will be starting his interventional cardiology fellowship in July 2021). Never have I ever seen him upset, flustered or display any negative emotion in the 18 months I have known him. He has time and again gone out of his way to help his colleagues, his juniors and most importantly, boost their morale when they were feeling down, especially considering that the last year has presented us with a tremendously challenging environment to work in, on top of already working in the fellowship of Cardiovascular disease, which brings with it its own unique set of challenges. It has been an absolute pleasure and honor working alongside a person who was put everyone else above himself, who will never judge you or with whom you can always be yourself without fear of being negatively evaluated. He will go far very far in life, not because of his knowledge or his procedural skills (which are already very good to begin with) but because how he treats other people with humility and respect.”

Resident and Fellow Peer Nominees for February

Edmond Ahdoot, MD
MSBI Neurology

Kara Beiard, MD
MSH Pediatric Endocrinology

Logan Bernhardt, DO
MSBI Internal Medicine

Sheena Bhalla, MD
MSH Hematology-Oncology

Dansi Biala, MD, MBA
MSH Pediatrics

Aditya Joshi, MD
MSMW Cardiovascular Disease

Fahad Khan, MBBS
MSMW Pathology

Binny Khandakar, MBBS
MSMW Pathology

Roopa Kumari, MBBS
MSMW Pathology

Hannah Levavi, MD
MSH Hematology-Oncology

Xulei Liu, MB, MS
MSMW Pathology

Tony Lum, MD
MSMW Surgery

Hailey Mcinerney, MD
MSMW Obstetrics & Gynecology

Kevin Mijares, MD
MSMW Pathology

Devon O’Guinn, MD, MS
MSMW Diagnostic Radiology

Katya Papatla, MD
MSH Gynecologic Oncology

Frances Rusnack, DO, MS
MSMW Emergency Medicine

Jihan Ryu MD
MSMW Psychiatry

Hanain Shahab, MBBS
MSMW Advanced Cardiac Imaging

Alesha Shab, MD, MPH
MSH Internal Medicine

Ronald Sutton, MD
MSBI Psychiatry

Taylor Van Denaker, MD
MSMW Pathology

Natasha Viera Feliciano, MD
MSBI Internal Medicine

Aditya Joshi, MD
MSMW Cardiovascular Disease

Fahad Khan, MBBS
MSMW Pathology

Binny Khandakar, MBBS
MSMW Pathology

Roopa Kumari, MBBS
MSMW Pathology

Hannah Levavi, MD
MSH Hematology-Oncology

Xulei Liu, MB, MS
MSMW Pathology

Tony Lum, MD
MSMW Surgery

Hailey Mcinerney, MD
MSMW Obstetrics & Gynecology

Kevin Mijares, MD
MSMW Pathology

Devon O’Guinn, MD, MS
MSMW Diagnostic Radiology

Katya Papatla, MD
MSH Gynecologic Oncology

Frances Rusnack, DO, MS
MSMW Emergency Medicine