

Emily Phelps, MD

Resident (PGY4), Psychiatry
The Mount Sinai Hospital

Service to their peers: “Dr. Phelps is a deeply compassionate, supportive, vibrant, and inclusive chief resident. Her dedication to cultivating a strong sense of community is unparalleled and has made my - and I know so many of my co-interns’- transition into residency one full of joy and emotional safety. When I experienced a harrowing sudden death on the inpatient psychiatry unit on a call shift late one night, in the immediate aftermath of the event, I received a call from Emily, who was already on her way to the unit from home to provide in-person support with a hug and listening ear. She also waited that night to walk home and debrief with one of my co-interns who had been part of the medical code team responding to the event.” “Emily has been so incredibly helpful to us interns with onboarding and making our transition to residency an incredibly smooth process. She has personally checked in on all of us and demonstrated absolute commitment to her peers with the utmost of kindness and compassion. She is someone I can turn to for advice at any time of day and is someone who I as well as my whole residency cohort really would be remiss without.” “She has also consistently worked on improving the residency in several different ways, from making changes to Epic order sets to incorporating resident feedback on the structure of didactics,”

Sharonne Holtzman, MD

Fellow (PGY7), Gynecologic Oncology
The Mount Sinai Hospital

Service to their peers: “Dr. Holtzman has demonstrated exemplary leadership, exceptional clinical expertise, and unwavering dedication to patient care. As a gynecologic oncology service fellow for the past two years, she has consistently excelled in leading her team and ensuring high-quality care for every patient. Despite our complex and busy service, she always provides each patient with her full, undivided attention, dedicating significant time on rounds to discuss intricate, multidisciplinary plans. Dr. Holtzman has consistently led her team with a collaborative and inclusive approach. She fosters an environment where every team member, including medical students and junior residents, are encouraged to voice their opinions, contribute to meaningful discussions, and grow. She has an amazing ability to mentor and teach colleagues in a supportive, compassionate way. Beyond her clinical skills, Dr. Holtzman spends much of her time outside of the hospital mentoring medical students and advancing research in gynecologic cancer care. She is highly productive in her scholarly activity and is always willing to take extra time to help her colleagues with her expertise-whether its navigating the IRB process, research ideas and editing of abstracts /manuscripts.”

Resident and Fellow Peer Nominees for November

Pawan Angara, MD

MSH Psychiatry

Christina Caryi, MD

MSM/MSW Obstetrics and Gynecology

Delaney Cole, MD

MSM/MSW Obstetrics and Gynecology

Parnaz Daghighi, MD, MPH

MSH Triple Board

Amit Elazar, MD

MSSN Surgery

Luke Kiefer, MD

MSH Neurology

Spencer Kiehm, MD, MSCR

MSH Cardiovascular Surgery-Integrated

Hannah Lynch, DO

MSM/MSW Psychiatry

Hariharasudan Natarajan, MBBS

MSH Nephrology

Talat Nehal, DPM

MSSN Podiatric Medicine and Surgery

Benjamin Ogedegbe, MD

MSH Psychiatry

Abigael Kyra Arce Oseña, MD

EHC Psychiatry

Brendan Ross, MDCM

MSH Psychiatry

Todd Rubin, MD, PhD

MSH Neurology

Christie Ryba, MD, PhD

MSM/MSW Internal Medicine

Vaibhav Shah, DO

EHC Internal Medicine

FNU Shazna, MBBS

QHC Internal Medicine

Ewa Tumiel, MD

EHC Psychiatry