GRADUATE MEDICAL EDUCATION
Resident and Fellow of the Month: May 2022

Davis Jones, MD
Resident (PGY2), Internal Medicine
Mount Sinai Hospital

Service to their peers: "Dr. Jones is a flawless example of how every physician should care for their patients and one of the most competent and hard-working physicians in the hospital. He is always willing to help his colleagues from various other specialties when they are in need of medical advice in caring for patients." "Davis (Brent) Jones was arguably the most helpful person I’ve come across during residency. Brent went above and beyond to make sure my patients were pre-opped and ready for surgery. Moreover, I had a number of occasions where the patient would ask, where is Dr. Jones, on the way to the operating room. This is a testament to his amazing patient care. Dr. Jones is the example of how all residents should behave and carry themselves." "He is willing to establish inters-service communication between multiple specialties in a respectful way in order to provide the best care possible for his patients. He was able to make a complicated situation into a clear solution and represents the department of medicine as a caring and competent physician."

Renita Kim, MD, MPH
Fellow (PGY6), Minimally Invasive Gynecologic Surgery
Mount Sinai Hospital

Service to their peers: "Dr. Kim is constantly teaching residents, leading them through cases and teaching them anything and everything she can to help them become better surgeons and gynecologic providers. She is patient, thorough, supportive and values the opportunity to give feedback. Her commitment to the uninsured women in East Harlem through her volunteer work at EHHOP is just one example of how dedicated Dr. Kim is to her patients and the families she cares for. She will stay late during clinic to give the patients the extra care that they need and shows every patient compassion, empathy, and empowers them to make the health decisions that are best for them." "From the start of her fellowship she has persistently and kindly gone out of her way to support residents at every level, and consistently made everyone around her feel cared for and at ease. I am confident that Renita has played a large role in the resident I am and the fellow that I hope to be."
