

Vision 2030: A Healthier Guyana

Our Goal

In partnership with the Government of Guyana and Hess Corporation, we seek to transform Guyana's public health system to deliver world-class health care for all and ensure everyone in Guyana can live healthier, more productive lives.

Our Partners

Our Priorities

Since 2022, Mount Sinai has partnered with Guyana's Ministry of Health and Hess Corporation to support a bold vision for improving access to high-quality care nationwide. Our priorities through 2030 include:

- World-Class Cancer Care: Establishing a national cancer center to provide comprehensive screening and treatment for breast, cervical, and prostate cancer
- Women's and Children's Health: Supporting a new national Women's and Children's Hospital to deliver high-quality care and meet international standards
- Community-Centered Care: Expanding access so everyone across Guyana can receive health screenings, primary care treatment, and support services
- Hospital Quality Improvement: Implementing a national program to improve health care quality, safety, and service delivery in all of Guyana's regional hospitals
- Digital Health: Supporting Guyana's first national electronic health records system, granting all Guyanese digital access to their essential health information
- Capacity Building: Supporting health care professionals in advancing workforce development, specialized training, and leadership capacity.

Our Impact

850K

people impacted in Guyana

60+

Mount Sinai experts supporting government efforts to modernize Guyana's health system

250+

digital health workers to be trained in Guyana by new digital health training institute in the next three years

69,000+

children received comprehensive health screenings in less than two years—including follow-up care for glasses, hearing, dental, and developmental needs

3-day

average for diagnostic results—down from 3 months—through new, first-in-class national pathology lab, enabling faster life-saving treatment

1,300+

highly-skilled nursing professionals graduated in 2025, meeting critical workforce needs

About Vision 2030: A Healthier Guyana

Mount Sinai, the Guyana Ministry of Health, and Hess Corporation aim to transform Guyana's public health system by 2030 with world-class health care services accessible to all citizens, especially vulnerable communities. Building on significant progress since the partnership's launch in 2022, Mount Sinai continues to provide expert support and, together with the Ministry of Health, is driving progress in cancer care, women's and children's health, community-based care, quality improvement, workforce development, and digital health systems. This collaborative effort is accelerating the country's path toward a healthier future and setting a new regional and global standard.

Contact us to learn more:

Arnhold Institute for Global Health at Mount Sinai
1 Gustave L. Levy Place, New York, NY 10029
guyana.project@mountsinai.org www.mountsinai.org